COLORADO.

Thomas Perkins Shot.

News was received in this city yesterday of the shooting of Mr. T. J. Perkins at Buena Vista. It came in the form of a telegram to Mr. B. O. Austin, of the City Drug Store, and was as follows:

BUENA VISTA, April 27, 11.05 a. m.

B. O. AUSTIN: Tom Perkins shot. Will die in an hour. JOHN DOZIER.

Mr. Austin at once telegraphed the sad news to the brothers of Mr. Perkins, who reside in Carrolton, Mo., and last evening received the following reply:

CARROLTON, April 27.

B. O. AUSTIN: Dispatch all particulars to-night. I will come. A. M. PERKINS.

Mr. T. J. Perkins who was shot at Buena Vista yesterday was well known in this city. He served on the police force during the last year. He was a quiet man not given to brawling but was known to be a splendid shot and was not the kind of a person to be trifled with. Mr. B. O. Austin, of this city, knew Mr. Perkins in his former home at Carrolton, Mo., where his brothers reside. His family is a good one and his brothers, who are engaged in the mercantile business, are highly respected. Mr. T. J. Perkins held the position of deputy sheriff at Carrolton before he came to Colorado Springs. He was not a man to accumulate property and his brothers desiring to establish him in some steady employment furnished him a team and wagon this spring with which he went into the passenger and express business between this city and Buena Vista. He became interested in mines which are said to give evidence of being valuable, and a few days ago Mr. Austin received a letter from him requesting that he secure a good man to take charge of the team and wagon. Nothing further has been heard from him until the news of the shooting was received yesterday.

LATER.

Special to the Gazette:

DENVER, COLO., April 27. A dispatch from Buena Vista says, this forenoon at a quarter past seven o'clock, Thomas Perkins, recently appointed policeman, while attempting to serve a warrant for the arrest of three bunkosteerers, was fatally shot in an alley leading from Railroad street. The victim received three shots, one in the right hand, one in the left arm and one in the left breast through the lung. Perkins is rapidly sinking and can't possibly survive. W. K. (Alias Cantie) Salisbury, one of the bunko men, who it is thought did the shooting, gave himself up and is now in the hands of the officers. Great excitement prevails and it is not improbable that summary punishment may be meted out, as other arrests are almost sure to follow. It is almost impossible to get at the true facts, as the officials seem intent to withhold everything of importance they can from the reporters.

Pueblo News.

PUEBLO, April 27.—Joseph Woodward, formerly news agent of the D. & R. G. railroad, died in this city this morning of consumption.

J. Brown today suffered a fracture of the right thigh, done while resisting the arrest of officers.

Exciting Scene in Leadville Council.

DENVER, April 27. The News' Leadville special says at a meeting of the city council to-night, a resolution was read declaring the seat of Alderman Chatfield, of the 5th ward, vacant not having been a resident of the ward either at the time of the election or since. The resolution was adopted 5 to 6, the mayor voting aye. A motion to reconsider the action taken in the Fourth ward was also carried. When Alderman Curran, whose seat was in dispute, was sworn in, the republican aldermen left the chamber, and the greatest confusion followed. The officers drew revolvers and demanded order, when many in the audience also drew revolvers and a dangerous affair was threatened for a moment. Ex-Mayor Jones, who was in attendance by his excited remarks did much to agitate the people. The council now stands 6 democrats, 5 republicans and one vacancy. All is quiet now, and the republicans are seeking a compromise.

GENERAL NEWS.

Washington News.

HOPE FOR CALIFORNIA.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Hon. John F. Swift spent an hour or two on the floor of the Senate and House to day and was extensively introduced by the members of the California delegation to prominent Representatives and Senators of both parties. Mr. Swift has had a long conversation with his colleague Mr. Prescott and Secretary Evarts, both of whom assure him as did the President yesterday, that they warmly sympathize with the people of Pacific coast in regard to the evils of Chinese immigration and earnestly desire a modification of the Burlingame treaty to restrict it. It is proper to report in this connection that Mr. Prescott called at Horace Davis' residence one evening last week and went over the entire Chinese subject with him, a conversation which lasted three hours, and which resulted in a mutual discovery that they are exactly in accordance as to the nature and extent of the evils of Chinese immigration and the right, and duty of the general government to protect our people against it. It appears to be certain therefore that the two commissioners will work together harmoniously.

Minister Angell has not yet returned from Michigan. Mr. Swift hopes the instructions of the commissioners will be completed in time to enable them to start for the Pacific coast early next week. Mr. Prescott will probably take his family with him to San Francisco and send them to Santa Barbara to remain there during his absence in China. He and Governor Pacheco and Mr. Swift dine with Horace Davis this evening.

The consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, with the senate amendment, providing for salary and expenses of the treaty commissioner, still awaits final action, but will probably be sent to the conference committee within a few days, and soon after become a law.

Pacific coast readers will note with interest the house to-day made a special assignment of May 15th, for the consideration of the bills already reported from the committee on education and labor, among which is the fifty-passenger Chinese immigration bill. It will of course be pushed for passage regardless of the pendency of diplomatic measures, but the chances are against its receiving action in the senate this session.

INDIAN BILL IN THE SENATE.

The Indian appropriation bill was taken up in the senate. Senator Teller ridiculed the keeping of an agent for the Pueblos who had been peaceable and civilized 350 years. The agent was an unmitigated nuisance. His chief occupation was to send the department highly colored reports of his efforts to aid their civilization, while in fact they have not advanced a jot. Senator Dawes said the condition of the Indians is getting worse every day. Senator Beck said everything possible is being done to help them and prevent trouble.

EXECUTING REVENUE LAWS.

Reports of the outrages by illicit distillers in the northern part of Georgia are coming in and it having been asserted that the U. S. marshal for that section has been lax in the discharge of his duty, refusing either to arrest the offenders or deputize revenue officers to do it, Attorney General Devens has telegraphed to-day, ordering him to see that arrests were promptly made. Commissioner Raum has sent revenue agents Whitfield, Kellogg and Chapman to report to agent Wagner, now in charge of the district, and force is to be organized under each of them and armed for the campaign against the disturbers of the peace.

BUSINESS IN THE HOUSE.

The passage of the District of Columbia appropriation bill by the house of representatives to-day, has put the house ahead of its appropriation committee in the dispatch of business. The committee will not have any other bill ready to report before some time next week; when it is expected that the post office bill, and perhaps the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill will be completed and brought before the house for action. The only other annual appropriation bills to follow them are the river and harbor and general deficiency bills.

FUNDS OF AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS.

The Senate to-day passed Booths bill amending the bill of 1862 so as to allow the proceeds of the agricultural college lands, to be invested in U. S. bonds bearing any rate of interest; and also to allow their investment in such other manner as the laws of the respective states may provide. The existing law prohibits their investment in U. S. bonds yielding a smaller net return than 5 per cent. per anum. The bill was reported from the committee to-day and Booth procured unanimous consent for its immediate passage, by explaining that its purpose was to authorize the California university to results to make a profitable use of a large amount of funds now lying idle.

SURPLUS RECEIPTS.

At a cabinet meeting the secretary of the treasury estimated the surplus receipts this month will aggregate from ten to twelve millions.

Legislating Against Capital.

NEW YORK, April 27. Some Canadian bank agencies here, in view of the hostile bills introduced at Albany to tax foreign capital employed within the state, are calling in their money and transferring it elsewhere.

Political News.

PENNSYLVANIA DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

HARRISBURG, April 27.—Delegates are pouring in to the democratic convention. Randall and Wallace are here. The delegation to Cincinnati will doubtless go uninstructed.

S. H. McGowen of the Vaux delegation arrived this evening and at once began work with a view of effecting a compromise between the Warren delegations. At first their arguments seemed to have a favorable effect and were well received by Cassidy, McGowen, and Barger of the regular delegation, but at ten o'clock tonight all negotiations were broken off. Leaders of the regular delegation stated that after several attempts they could not control their followers. The basis of the proposed compromise was that half the delegation from both sides should be admitted to the convention. The delegates from the state at large were divided on the question of admitting half of both the Philadelphia delegations, but were willing to adhere to any conclusion that the Philadelphia people might arrive at so long as their direct interests were not interfered with. The regular delegation is understood to be made up generally of Wallace adherents, while the Vaux or contesting delegation is strongly in Randall's favor. Both sides have been canvassing all day long and to-night both Wallace and Randall claim to be able to control to-morrow's convention. If the Philadelphia fight should be carried into the convention it is believed ex-Senator Andrew H. Dill will be the Wallace candidate for temporary chairman, while R. E. Monaghan will be the Randall candidate.

OHIO REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

COLUMBUS, O., April 27. The Sherman delegates to the state convention are in a large majority and have about decided to instruct the delegation to support Sherman as long as there is a reasonable chance of his nomination in Chicago. Owing to the number of Blaine delegates it is not wise to adopt the unit rule. The Blaine delegation promise to make a lively fight.

COLUMBUS, April 27.—The Sherman men admit Blaine will have 200 out 670 delegates in the state convention and three out of the 20 congressional districts. The Blaine men claim 250 delegates and six congressional districts. The Blaine delegates to-night nominated electors at large and adopted a resolution that the Blaine delegates would not yield to dictation as to the action of the district delegates to Chicago.

CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

HARTFORD, April 27. A large number of delegates to the democratic state convention which assembles in this city to-morrow are already in the city. Ex-senator Barnum and other democrats are present. There will be some strife as to English and Tilden delegates to Cincinnati. It is believed Tilden has a majority and will have the state solid.

LOUISIANA FOR SHERMAN.

CHICAGO, April 27. The Inter-Ocean's Washington special says Madison Wells of Louisiana said to-day that it now looks very much as if there would be two delegates from that state for Grant and the others for Sherman. He says the colored people are unanimous for Grant but the politicians for Sherman.

WINDOM'S CHANCES.

There are strong indications of a boom for Windom as a dark horse. He is very popular among the congressmen and is the second choice of the Blaine and Sherman men and even Grant leaders are warmly attached to him.

COLUMBUS, April 27. There has been manifested to night by a few delegates a desire to have to-morrow's convention adopt anti third resolutions, but there is good authority for saying no such resolution will be offered and even if it should be, it could not be adopted. Little has been said thus far about the platform.

BLAINE'S SUCCESS IN ILLINOIS.

CHICAGO, April 27. Five county conventions were held in Illinois to-day. In four of them Blaine secured 10 delegates to the state convention and Grant the same number. In Rock Island county ten delegates are for Blaine and Washburne, so that the net result is Grant, 16; anti-Grant, 29. The Blaine men claim now to have 90 votes in the state convention, while Grant has 61. They are confident of controlling the convention and 10 of the 19 congress onal districts.

CHICAGO, April 27. The Times Harrisburg special says the sentiment among the delegates to the State Democratic convention to-morrow is overwhelming against Tilden. Appearances indicate the adoption of instruction for Hancock. There is no doubt that Wallace will control the convention. John Kelly is represented by McCloskey of New York who say, if Tilden is renominated the Kellyites will defeat him at the polls.

After the Storm.

MACON, GA., April 27. A meeting of citizens was called by the mayor to-day to adopt a plan of relief to the sufferers from the effects of the cyclone Sunday night. A relief committee was appointed to raise funds to repair the losses, provide food and shelter. The committee have two hundred and three on their list who are absolutely destitute, some have not even a piece of clothing or bread. After carefully estimating the urgent demand to say nothing of the reparation of losses, it was considered that $20,000 will be required. Over $2,000 has been contributed from the citizens. The Mobile & Ohio railroad is damaged about $30,000. A committee of which Robert C. Patty is chairman, will issue an address to-morrow for aid from abroad. At precisely 8 o'clock this morning every bell in town sounded the death knell when the remains of fifteen who perished were drawn in wagons to the cemetery.

Feature of the Immigration.

NEW YORK, April 27. The unusual feature of the present heavy immigration from Europe is an steady movement west and southwest by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, extraordinary inducements being offered emigrants in that direction. One steamer landed nearly 2,000 Germans, Austrians and Swedes at Baltimore last Sunday.

Running off Stock.

DEADWOOD, D. T., April 27. White stock thieves killed John Diffenbach and ran off one hundred and fifty head of horses, from Inyan Kara mountain, fifty miles west of here on Tuesday the 20th inst. Diffenbach was one of the heaviest stock men in the West. He leaves a wife and children. Indians have committed numerous depredations in this vicinity the past two months. A party of four hundred has gone in pursuit.

Appeal for Missouri's Afflicted.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—The Merchants Exchange Relief committee to-morrow issue an address to the charitably disposed people setting forth that the recent Missouri cyclones have brought death and ruin to hundreds of families; wasted many thrifty towns, and that recent advices of the committee show the destruction to be more fearful than pen can picture. Two eminent men who have been on tours of observation say the half has not been told. The James river storm began about thirty-five miles west of Springfield, gradually increased in size and power until it attained a width of two thousand feet for a distance of forty six miles. In its unbroken swath from fifteen hundred to two thousand feet wide men, women and children are killed or crippled, horses, cattle, sheep and hogs in a similar condition, dwellings, fences and outhouses not only leveled but blown away, plows, wagons, reapers and other farming implements reduced to scrap iron and kindling wood, and in many cases the fields with growing crops so covered with forest debris or with mud or sand that much additional labor will be required to save what has been planted. No houses are left standing in the track of the storm and farmers are entirely without horses or implements with which to carry on their work. Similar reports came from many other sources and the demands upon the people for assistance are very urgent. St. Louis is doing all in her power for the relief of those unfortunate districts, but the call is great and cannot be supplied in an adequate manner by the citizens of this state. This committee therefore, in behalf of the sufferers, appeal to the citizens of the country everywhere, to come forward and assist in relieving the people of the southwest in their distress.

Grant's Future Plans.

BOSTON, April 27. General Grant writes he will not be with the Army of the Potomac society at Bennington, Vt., on the 10th of June. He expects to go to the Rocky mountains for a few weeks and will not go east of Illinois before fall. At the meeting of the society Joaquin Miller will deliver the poem.

De Young's Inquest.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27. The inquest in De Young's case commenced this evening. The inquiry confined to circumstances immediately connected with the murder. The testimony thus far agrees substantially with the reports heretofore telegraphed.

FOREIGN.

Members of English Cabinet.

LONDON, April 27. It is believed the queen has sanctioned the following appointments:

Duke of Argyle, lord president of the council.

Sir William G. Vernon Harcourt, secretary of state for the home department.

Earl Kimberly, secretary of state for the colonial department.

John Bright, chancellor of the exchequer.

J. Stansfeld, secretary of local government board.

Earl Granville, secretary of state for foreign department.

Marquis of Hartington, secretary for India.

H. C. E. Childers, secretary of state for war.

Lord Selborne, lord high chancellor.

Wm. F. Hussler, chief secretary for Ireland.

Lord Northbrook, first lord of admiralty.

It is believed the following appointments outside of the cabinet have been arranged: Attorney general, Henry J. Amos, solicitor general, Farren Herschell, lord chamberlain, Lord Kenmare, mistress of robes, Duchess of Westminster. There will be a council at Windsor Castle to-morrow, when it is expected the ministers will be sworn in.

LONDON, April 27. The Standard says Beaconsfield took leave of the queen yesterday. The following appointments have been finally made: Duke of Argyle, Lord Privy councillor; Earl Kimberly, secretary of state for the colonial department; Jno. Bright, chancellor; Marquis of Ripon, viceroy of India. He was offered the viceroyalty of either Ireland or India. The report that Lord Derby was offered a seat in the cabinet is untrue. The absence of advanced liberals has been met by conceding a seat in the cabinet to Chamberlain, who will probably be president of the board of trade.

The Queen of Spain.

MADRID, April 27. The official declaration of the pregnancy of the queen was celebrated yesterday by granting of amnesty for all previous offences. There is a numerously attended levee in the palace and a general parade of troops. 80,000 people are in the street. The king and queen with a magnificent retinue went to the cathedral and heard a Te Deum.

Storms in England.

LONDON, April 27. The storm yesterday did considerable damage in surrounding townships. Barns were struck by lightening and shattered, others were unroofed. Fences were blown down and trees uprooted.

REPUBLICAN CALL.

HEADQUARTERS REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE,
DENVER, Colorado, April 22, 1880.

At a meeting of the Republican State Central Committee held at this place Thursday, April 22, it was ordered that a state republican convention be held on Tuesday, the 25th day of May, 1880, at ten a. m., at Denver, Colorado, for the purpose of choosing delegates to cast the vote of the state at the national republican convention, to meet in Chicago, June 3, 1880.

The republican committees of the various counties are therefore requested to make, as soon as practicable, provision for the election of delegates to a republican state convention at the time and place above mentioned.

Upon the basis of representation as fixed by the committee, the counties of the state are entitled to representation in the state convention as follows:

Counties.	Delegates.	Counties.	Delegates.
Arapahoe	32	Huerfano	5
Bent	3	Jefferson	7
Boulder	13	Lake	34
Chaffee	9	La Plata	4
Clear Creek	15	Larimer	5

Gilpin	12	San Juan	4
Grand	3	Summit	10
Hamilton	7	Weld	7
Hinsdale	4

JOHN L. ROUTT, Chairman.
HENRY WARD, Secretary.

Judge Field is the coming man. He has a good war record.

Grant thus far has not obtained a single delegate in New England who is pledged to vote for him.

Blaine's strength in New England outside of Maine, at Chicago, will be double what it was at Cincinnati in 1876.

In carefully prepared tables of the preferences of the colleges of the country, Blaine leads everywhere except in the south.

It is said that Cameron thinks if Grant cannot be nominated, the ticket Sherman and Cameron would be better than to throw away the vote of Pennsylvania on Grant.

To-morrow Ohio and Arkansas will hold republican conventions to send delegates to Chicago, and on the next day California and South Carolina will hold conventions.

Senator Logan who became frightened about Grant's prospects and went to Illinois to look after his coal mines, has discovered that Illinois might support him in case Grant is dropped. This will be a disintegrating factor in the Grant movement, as there may be a difference of opinion as to when Grant should be dropped.

Hon. Stephen D. Brigham ex-member of congress from Michigan in an open letter gives the following opinion: "I believe that the nomination of Grant would make Michigan, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Oregon doubtful states and our defeat certain. I believe Blaine can carry Michigan by 30,000 to 40,000 majority. The campaign under his lead would be the most enthusiastic ever witnessed in Michigan and not excelled by that of 1856."

Most republicans are doubtful about the wisdom of the re-nomination of Grant, because we shall be put in so many ways on the defensive. The republican party started and strengthened the prejudice against the third term in 1873, and it will be a constant source of weakness in the campaign, even though it is called all bosh. W. E. Chandler thus states the difficulty there would be in New Hampshire, for instance. "If Grant is our candidate, what shall we say when our own resolutions of 1873 and 1876 unanimously declared against us by the democrats? I have them here. In January, 1875, we declared our unalterable opposition to the election of any man to the presidency of the United States for a third term. Not satisfied with that, even after President Grant had declined another nomination, we, in January, 1876, said: 'We reaffirm our unalterable opposition to the selection of any president to a third term.' With the small republican majority we have in New Hampshire, those who advocate Grant's renomination should tell us what reply we shall make in our papers and on the stump to those emphatic utterances."

THE PRESIDENTIAL PROSPECTS.

During the last week the conventions held made little difference in the result of the week before. The following table gives the result thus far:

	Grant.	Blaine.	Edmunds.	Sherman.	Undecided.
New York	50	26	...	...	...
Pennsylvania	36	22	...	...	...
Kentucky	24	...	...	...	...
Virginia	22	...	...	...	...
Georgia	...	11	...	11	...
Massachussetts	...	...	...	...	26
Connecticut	6	6	5	...	...
Indiana	30	...	...	...	...
Iowa	22	...	...	...	...
Kansas	12	...	...	...	...
Maine	14	...	...	...	...
Missouri	30	...	...	...	...
North Carolina	10	...	...	10	...
Oregon	5	6	...	...	...
Rhode Island	...	8	...	...	...
Texas	16	...	...	...	...
Vermont	...	10	...	...	...
Total	189	149	15	21	26

In the above table it will be noticed that we have divided the vote of New York and Pennsylvania. The national convention does not recognize the unit rule, and it is now quite apparent that the delegates will not. The Albany Evening Journal estimates 20 Blaine votes in the New York delegation and the Philadelphia Press estimates 22 Blaine men in the Pennsylvania delegation. Georgia for lack of better data, is divided between Blaine and Sherman, as they controlled the convention. The Massachusetts delegation is placed among the uninstructed, because, though the preferences are for Edmunds and Sherman, it will vote for the man who can best carry the country. Connecticut is not accurately given, but all reports seem to indicate the vote above. Grant and Sherman men both claim a majority of the North Carolina delegation, so we have divided it. The Texas delegation is uninstructed, but its preferences are so strong for Grant that we have put it in that column. Of the remaining states the preferences are well known. We give another table showing this and putting all doubtful states as doubtful, including Massachusetts' delegation uninstructed, in this column:

	Grant.	Blaine.	Edmunds.	Sherman.	Doubtful.
Alabama	...	...	...	...	20
Arkansas	12	...	...	...	...
California	...	12	...	...	...

Allowing that either Grant or Blaine get the whole of the doubtful vote as they cannot, still either of them could not be nominated on the first ballot. Sherman will hold the balance of power. Grant will probably get more votes from the doubtful column than Blaine but not more than 20 more. The above figures are given after careful comparison of the estimates of the friends of Grant, Blaine and Sherman, and are not far out of the way. It shows what we have held from the beginning that neither Blaine or Grant are likely to be nominated. Both will be too strong and the bitter feeling aroused between their respective followers will compel the nomination of another candidate, possibly Sherman, but more probably Washburne.

Grant Movement Weakening.

When the Hawkeye has left the third term ranks there will only be left in the West the Chicago Inter-Ocean and the St. Louis Globe Democrat. In the East there are no papers of consequence which still cling to the Grant delusion save the New York Times, the Troy Times, and the Buffalo Express. These journals will soon see the uselessness of a further pushing of so unpalatable a dose, and will lend their valuable support to some Republican candidate who is capable of uniting the entire strength of the party. With so strong an anti-third term demonstration from so strong a stalwart Republican stronghold as Iowa, it is natural to suppose that we are on the eve of the collapse of the entire Grant third-term fabric. Cleveland Herald.

Judge Field's Candidacy.

It will be the province of the democratic convention to select the standard-bearer for the party, and when it shall meet and survey the whole ground, if Judge Field should be chosen, the party could feel that it had a candidate everyway worthy of the cordial and unselfish support of all friends of constitutional liberty, not because Mr. Tilden might prefer him, but because he has all the elements necessary for a wise and safe president. Pueblo Democrat.

A Democratic View of an Appointment.

So Governor Pitkin with his double back-action political spy glass having scanned the field, has selected Stevenson, of the Thief-pain, for his private secretary. Governor Pitkin has a retentive memory, and never goes back on his friends except when he finds it convenient to do so. His principal motive in appointing Stephenson, it is rumored, is to have him in his present position he could do him less mischief than he could on the Chieftain. Leadville Democrat.

Weakness of Machines.

That is the weakness of machines. They can steal caucuses. They can manipulate conventions. They can count nominees out or in. But when it comes to elections, manipulation avails nothing. The time finally comes when the hatred of the machine becomes stronger than the love of the party, and then the people go to the polls and smash things. They have done it in Albany. They will do it elsewhere. Buffalo Express.

The Dunce's Whist Maxims.

Printed for the benefit of fatuities, and to prevent scolding.—Bob Short.

First. Do not confuse your mind by reading a parcel of books. Surely you've a right to play your own game, if you like. Who are the people that write these books? What business have they to set up their views as superior to yours? Many of these writers lay down this rule: "Lead originally from your strongest suit;" don't you do it unless it suits your hand. It may be good in some hands, but it does not follow that it should in all. Lead a single card sometimes, or at any rate from your weakest suit, so as to make your little trumps when the suit is returned. By following this course in leads, you will nine times out of ten ruin both your own and your partner's hands; but the tenth time you will perhaps make several little trumps, which would have been useless otherwise. In addition to this, if sometimes you lead from your strongest suit, and sometimes from your weakest, it puzzles the adversaries, and they never can tell what you have led from.

Second. Seldom return your partner's lead; you have as many cards in your hand as he has; it is a free country, and why should you submit to his dictation? Play the suit you deem best, without any regard to preconceived theories. It is an excellent plan to lead out first one suit and then another. This mode of play is extremely perplexing to the whole table. If you have a fancy for books you will find this system approved by "I. C." He says: "You mystify alike your adversaries and your partner. You turn the game upside down, reduce it to one of chance, and in the scramble may have as good a chance as your neighbors."

Third. Especially do not return your partner's lead in trumps, for not doing so now and then turns out to be advantageous. Who knows but you may make a trump by holding up, which you certainly cannot do if your trumps are all out? Never mind the fact that you will generally lose tricks by refusing to play your partner's game. Whenever you succeed in making a trump by your refusal, be sure to point out to your partner how fortunate it was that you played as you did. Perhaps your partner is a much better player than you, and he may on some former occasion, with an exceptional hand have declined to return your lead of trumps. Make a note of this. Remind him of it if he complains of your neglecting to return his lead. It is an unanswerable argument.

Fourth. There are a lot of rules to which you need pay no attention, about leading from sequences. What can it matter which card of a sequence lead? The sequence cards are all of the same value, and one of them is as likely to win the trick as another. Besides, if you look at the books, you will find the writers do not even know their own minds. They advise in some cases that you should lead the the highest, in others the lowest of the sequence; and in leading from the ace, king, queen, they actually recommend you to begin with the middle card. Any person of common sense must infer from this that it don't matter which card of a sequence you lead.

Fifth. There are also a number of rules about the play of the second, third and fourth hands, but they are quite unworthy serious consideration. The exceptions are almost as numerous as the rules, so if you play by no rule at all you are about as likely to be right as wrong.

Sixth. Before leading trumps always first get rid of all the winning cards in your plain suit. You will not then be bothered with the lead after trumps are out, and you thus shift all the responsibility of mistakes on to your partner. But if your partner has led a suit, be careful when you lead trumps to keep in your hand the best card of his lead. By this means, if he goes on with his suit, you are more likely to get the lead after trumps are out, which, the books say, is a great advantage.

Seventh. Take every opportunity of playing false cards, both high and low. For by deceiving all round you will now and then win an extra trick. It is often said, "Oh, but you deceive your partner." That is very true. But then, as you have two adversaries and only one partner, it is obvious that by running dark you play two to one in your own favor. Besides this, it is very gratifying, when your trick succeeds, to have taken in your opponents, and to have won the applause of an ignorant gallery. If you play in a commonplace way, even your partner scarcely thanks you. Anybody could have done the same.

Eighth. Whatever you do, never attend to the score, and don't watch the fall of the cards. There is no earthly reason for doing either of these. As for the score, your object is to make as many as you can. The game is five, but if you play to score six or seven, small blame to you. Never mind running the risk of not getting another chance of making even five. Keep as many pictures and winning cards as you can in your hand. They are pretty to look at, and if you remain with the best of each suit you effectually prevent the adversaries from bringing in a lot of small cards at the end of the hand. As to the fall of the cards, it is quite clear that it is of no use to watch them; for, if everybody at the table is trying to deceive you, in accordance with maxim seventh, the less you notice the cards they play the less you will be taken in.

Ninth. Whenever you have ruined your hand and your partner's by playing in the way here recommended, you should always say that it "made no difference." It sometimes happens that it has made no difference, and then your excuse is clearly valid. And it will often happen that your partner does not care to argue the point with you, in which case your remark will make it clear to everybody that you have a profound insight into the game. If, however, your partner chooses to be disagreeable, and succeeds in proving you to be utterly ignorant of the first elements of whist, stick to it that you played right, that good play will sometimes turn out unfortunately, and accuse your partner of judging by results. This will generally silence him.

Tenth. Invariably blow up your partner at the end of every hand. It is not only a most gentleman-like employment of spare time, but it gains you the reputation of being a first-rate player.

Sarah Bernhardt's Sister.

Mlle. Jeanne Bernhardt, sister of the Blonde Sarah, has reappeared on the Parisian stage after a long absence. She made her debut at the Porte Saint-Martin after having studied dancing under the famous Mme. Dominique. In 1867, the year of the Exhibition, Jeanne, who had until then been as sage as Juanne Sanlaty, listened to the passionate appeal of a noble stranger, who left her an irreparable pledge of his love. Jeanne then passed through a series of romantic adventures, and one day disappointed at the obstinacy of a handsome man, a "beau brun," who remained insensible to her charms, she tried to kill herself, but only succeeded in spoiling a nice dress and staining her linen with a few drops of blood. The little drama, however, produced its effect, and the handsome man in question allowed himself to be conquered. Jeanne soon grew tired of him and left him in the lurch. There was no end to her caprices. Suddenly she had a fit of virtue, went to live on a fifth flat, where she remained until the other day, when, eaten up with spleen, she determined to resume her dramatic career, and so she is now playing in Cadol's new piece, "La Comtesse Berthe."—Parisian.

The Great Newfoundland Cyclone of August, 1874.

Having occasion lately to look into Blasius' Meteorology storm, of which, if we ever knew much about it, the recollection had passed out of our minds. Some particulars of the same are worth recalling, notwithstanding the lapse of time, inasmuch as we do not believe they are well remembered.

The storm referred to occured on the 24th and 25th of August. Its ravages included the loss of one thousand, one hundred and twenty vessels. The loss of life on sea and land amounted to the grand total of six hundred. Nine hundred buildings on the shore were damaged or destroyed. The destruction of ships and other property was estimated to be of the value of three and a half million dollars. The interests of the Canadian and Newfoundland fisheries were severely crippled.

The storm was first felt about the mouth of Chesapeake Bay. It progressed in a northeasterly course along the seaboard, until it struck the coast of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, where it spent its greatest fury and force.

A detailed account of this cyclone was given by Mr. Abbe, assistant in the Signal Service at Washington, and therefore may be relied upon as authentic. Syracuse Journal.

Choosing Poultry.

In choosing poultry never buy a bird that cannot be cleansed without washing. A washed fowl is a very inferior article. It ought to be so cleanly picked and drawn that a towel will be sufficient. Buy a chicken that has white flesh and pale yellow fat. In buying tame ducks young ones are the best; and if you take hold of the under part of the bill and can either bend or break it the duck is young. The breast being hard and thick denotes that it is fresh and sweet. No duck, either wild or tame, is good unless fat. Tame ducks are served with apple or cranberry sauce, with currant jelly, or oranges; and frequently with olives stewed in the gravy about five minutes before the bird is served. When geese are young and in good condition their legs are soft, yellow, and rather downy; if the legs are stiff and dry they are bad and tainted. Some kinds of tame birds require to be kept a little, others ought to be eaten as soon as possible; thus pigeons are best when quite fresh and and lose all taste and flavor if they are kept; but turkeys require to be hung for several days before they are tender. This condition will again vary with the age of the bird, the state of the weather, etc. But if a turkey be hung by four of its largest tail-feathers as soon as it falls upon the towel prepared to receive it it is in a prime condition and will then deteriorate. In other poultry an excellent plan to know when they are just at their tenderest is to judge by the ease with which the feathers come out. Therefore when you clean and hang a bird leave a few feathers, and when these can be readily pulled out the bird is as tender as it will ever be. Harper's Bazar.

Legal Notice

[illegible]

The Kansas Pacific railroad brought into Denver last week 1,755 [illegible].

The topic at the [illegible] room meeting to-night will be [illegible].

The [illegible] passenger [illegible].

The foundation and basement walls of Wells & P[illegible] new building on Tejon street are nearly completed.

It is probable that [illegible] company will run [illegible] Springs [illegible] Leadville.

[illegible] Monday [illegible] $45,000.

[illegible] once more become a pleasant drive. The grade has become [illegible] thanks to the sprinkler, almost [illegible].

Mr. L. P. Howell wishes us to request all persons that have marked off reserved lots at the cemetery for the [illegible].

Gen. Marshall [illegible] the [illegible] of Cascade avenue yesterday. The [illegible] did not seem to agree with some of them.

We have received a copy of the Gazette [illegible] published in [illegible], Colorado. The [illegible] and gives its readers a good quantity of [illegible] news.

[illegible] that some of our property owners are making their sidewalks of three inch plank. If we cannot have walks of brick or stone the next best [illegible] good board [illegible].

The announcement in a headline [illegible] caused a great disturbance among [illegible] he meant to write "money" instead of [illegible].

Now take the box, the [illegible] At first [illegible] you will [illegible].

We are informed that the [illegible] in the Court House Hall was [illegible] We are glad to learn this [illegible] patronage.

The official calendar of the First M. E. Church of Colorado Springs has just been issued, edited by the Rev. W. L. Slutz, pastor of the church. The circular makes a neat pamphlet of thirty-six pages. It gives the church officers, the names of members and a list of Sunday school scholars and classes.

Miss Frances E. Willard will lecture to-morrow evening in Court House Hall instead of the M. E. Church. The place of giving the lecture was changed at the request of a large number of people who believed that the church would be too small to hold all who would desire to be present. The lecture will be free.

The exodus to the Gunnison has partly begun and every day sends its quota of carbonate seekers from our city. We were yesterday shown a model outfit that is to start in a few days. The gentlemen who have equipped it are Messrs. H. A. True, C. H. White, A. M. C[illegible] and J. P. Barnes. Mr. Frank P. Lombard is to have control and will prospect in the interest of the company. His field of labor will be principally in the Elk Mountain district and in the vicinity of Dolores and Rico. Several other parties have started out within the past few days among whom we may mention Messrs. H. Longmont, Dr. Stowell, Captain Henderson and Prof. Fletcher. We can only hope that they may fully realize their utmost expectations.

THE RIO GRANDE EXTENSION

[illegible]

Crossing the [illegible] at an Elevation of [illegible] Feet

[illegible]

How Far the [illegible] Has Progressed

[illegible]

[illegible] SAN JUAN EXTENSION [illegible]

[illegible]

The station [illegible] is called San Antonio, and is about one-half a mile from Conejos. This is the point where the San Juan extension branches off and it will be the [illegible] of two long [illegible]. The Conejos and San Antonio [illegible]. Of course there is a saloon, [illegible]. The station is in charge of Mr. Harry Wint[illegible], who is cashier for the extension company. The town of Conejos [illegible] Antonio as well as benefits it.

The road from this point takes a south-westerly course and passes to the right of Mount San Antonio. It then takes nearly a southern direction until it strikes the Rio Grande at the Rio Grande canyon at an elevation of [illegible] feet [illegible]. Here the road descends rapidly for about six miles when it reaches the river. At this point will be the next station on the extension. Carlile, Orman and Crook have a large force grading on this line. They have 800 men at work on the New Mexican and San Juan extension. The road is graded about 40 miles south of San Antonio. The track is laid for a few miles out of the town. Only a small force is at present engaged in laying track, but a larger force will be employed as soon as men and material can arrive.

SAN JUAN EXTENSION

The San Juan extension takes an almost westerly direction to the Animas river and then runs up to Silverton, the objective point. The distance to Silverton from Alamosa by this route is 234 miles. Great effort was made to get over the range near the headwaters of the Rio Grande which would have made the distance to the same point only 150 miles, 94 miles less. But a place to cross the range could not be found at an elevation less than 12,000 feet, and in this place there were great dangers from snow slides, and hence the [illegible] route was [illegible].

[illegible]

Wild Dogs on the Plains

We do not know whether any one has [illegible].

A gentleman whose business called him out of town [illegible] the following startling [illegible] which he related [illegible].

[illegible]

A correspondent of the Fairplay Flume writes an interesting letter from Horseshoe Gulch [illegible] the Peerless mine which is owned by Judge McFerran of this city. We copy a portion of the letter which relates to the Peerless: "Considerable [illegible] is prevailing around Leadville [illegible] developments on the Peerless mine [illegible] Judge McFerran of Colorado Springs, which bids fair to rank with the richest of the city's bonanzas, [illegible]. The great [illegible] of Horseshoe, [illegible] little surface [illegible], has always [illegible] low grade ore, but the Peerless is rapidly [illegible] that theory, as indeed are all the mines [illegible]. The [illegible] of the Peerless has [illegible] and is [illegible] improving in both quality and quantity, and I am not afraid to venture the assertion [illegible] are a great many other mines here of which I might [illegible]. Judge McFerran has [illegible] and has let a contract for one hundred thousand feet of lumber."

Personal

Mr. G. P. Robinson returned yesterday from a trip along the mountains.

Mr. Geo. J. Durbaugh, a prominent citizen of Pueblo, is a guest at the National hotel.

Mr. George A. [illegible], in charge of a D. & R. G. engineering party, is registered at the National.

General Adams has gone to Leadville to [illegible] business [illegible] departing on his mission to Bolivia.

Mr. Frank H. Dunton, editor and proprietor of the Spirit of the Times, Chicago, is registered at the Colorado Springs hotel.

Out among the [illegible] of Pike's Peak

[illegible] winter [illegible] companions the [illegible] a fine specimen of the [illegible] wolf [illegible]. Mr. J. F. Spencer [illegible] killed a fine large wolf that weighs 90 or 100 pounds [illegible].

The Red [illegible] correspondent of the Georgetown Courier gives [illegible].

The San Juan Prospector makes the following [illegible]: "High dice at ninety cents [illegible] Del Norte. This is wrong. It should be a dollar."
